UNIFEM is the women's fund at the United Nations. It provides financial and technical assistance to innovative programmes and strategies that promote women's human rights, political participation and economic security. UNIFEM works in partnership with UN organisations, governments and nongovernmental organisations (NGOs) and networks to promote gender equality. It links women's issues and concerns to national, regional and global agendas by fostering collaboration and providing technical expertise on gender mainstreaming and women's empowerment strategies.

UNIFEM has supported initiatives on gender responsive budgeting in over 20 countries. This support facilitated a growing momentum among governments, civil society and parliamentarians to engage in budget policy-making at national and local levels from a gender perspective.

FOREWORD

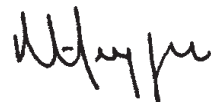

We are very pleased to introduce the UNFPA/UNIFEM training manual “Gender Responsive Budgeting in Practice,” and the resource pack, “Gender Responsive Budgeting and Women’s Reproductive Rights.” We feel certain that these two publications will add value to the available wealth of training resources and help you to build expert teams to meet the growing demand at country level. The goal is to encourage a gender perspective in the national planning and budgeting processes.

Gender responsive budgeting helps to track the way that budgets respond to women’s priorities and the way that governments use funds to reduce poverty, promote gender equality, reverse the spread of HIV and lower the rates of maternal and child mortality. It helps ensure government accountability to the commitments made to women in the Cairo Programme of Action on Population and Development and the Beijing Platform for Action for Gender Equality and Women’s Empowerment and to achieving the Millennium Development Goals.

Today, more than ten years after the Cairo Programme of Action and the Beijing Platform for Action, we can see significant progress in the areas of women’s empowerment, gender equality and women’s reproductive rights and health. Yet much more remains to be done. We trust that, in your hands, you shall find the tools to help take us further along the road towards even greater progress.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This manual is the outcome of a collaborative process between UNFPA, UNIFEM and gender budgets practitioners worldwide. Debbie Budlender, Gender Budget Expert and Specialist Researcher at the Community Agency for Social Enquiry (CASE) in South Africa, provided valuable guidance in the production of this manual and contributed the bulk of its content.

Nisreen Alami, UNIFEM's Gender Budgets Program Manager, provided segments that outline UNIFEM's approach and experience in gender responsive budgeting. The manual was greatly enriched by the contribution from practitioners applying gender responsive budgeting (GRB) in their advocacy for women's rights, namely: Veronique Zebadúa Yáñez (Fundar, Centro de Análisis y Investigación, Mexico) and Florencia Dorotan, (Women's Action Network for Development [WAND] Philippines).

We express our appreciation to our colleagues at UNIFEM, who lent their expertise and contributed the case studies included in the manual: Zineb Touimi Ben-Jelloun, Morocco; Raquel Coello, Ecuador; Leire Lopez, Ecuador; Cecilia Ncube, Southern Africa; and Firoza Mehrotra, India.

We also thank the UNFPA Gender Advisors whose participation in the two pilot workshops provided a great opportunity to benefit from their insight and experience.

For their guidance throughout the process and their immense support of the strategic partnership between UNFPA and UNIFEM, we gratefully acknowledge Joanne Sandler, Deputy Director of UNIFEM; Aminata Toure, Senior Technical Adviser, Gender Culture and Human Rights Branch at UNFPA; Miriam Jato, Senior Technical Adviser, Africa Division, UNFPA; and Yegeshen Ayehu, Technical Advisory Program Manager, UNFPA.

Finally, special thanks go to Fatou Aminata Lo, Program Specialist for the Gender Budget Program at UNIFEM, for her effort in coordinating this work, contributing to the production of the manual and seeing it through its final stages.

MANUAL DESCRIPTION

BACKGROUND

In 2005, UNFPA and UNIFEM concluded an agreement under UNFPA's strategic partnership program (SPP) with United Nations partners. The UNFPA/UNIFEM partnership program identified Gender Responsive Budgeting as an area for cooperation. The aim of this partnership is to build internal capacity in UNFPA through its country support teams (CSTs) and country offices and in UNIFEM through its regional programs. It is also envisioned that this partnership will strengthen joint initiatives on Gender Responsive Budgeting. In addition, it will offer more coherent and effective support to program countries and to UNCTs in applying this tool to make progress on gender equality commitments.

Under this partnership, UNIFEM undertook to develop knowledge products on gender responsive budgeting and reproductive health. The process for identifying the components of these knowledge products was a participatory one that drew on existing expertise within the staffs of UNFPA and UNIFEM. This process entailed a desk review of UNFPA and UNIFEM programs, an electronic discussion in late 2005, and two workshops held in Cape Town and Bangkok in April and June 2006 with UNFPA and UNIFEM staff. The outputs of this partnership include the present training manual and a resource pack entitled, "Budgeting for Reproductive Rights: Using gender responsive budgeting."

PURPOSE AND OBJECTIVES

The training manual on gender responsive budgeting (GRB) is intended to build the capacity of UNFPA and UNIFEM staff in applying gender budget analysis tools in their programming around gender equality and women's rights, it will also assist them in supporting gender budget initiatives wherever they exist. The manual specifically seeks to build understanding of GRB as a tool for promoting gender equity, accountability to women's rights as well as efficiency and transparency in budget policies and processes.

It is anticipated that this manual will develop skills required to effectively engage in mainstreaming gender in planning and budgeting processes at country level. It is also foreseen that UNFPA and UNIFEM will be using the manual to build teams of experts that can support the growing demand from national partners for capacity building in GRB.

The training manual adds value to the wealth of training resources on GRB firstly through a focus on the applicability of gender responsive budgeting to reproductive health and secondly through a presentation of sector-specific examples and case studies dealing with maternal health, gender and HIV/AIDS, and violence against women.

The manual draws on the rich experience and lessons learnt from UNIFEM's programming on gender budgeting in more than thirty countries since early 2000. It further encapsulates the understanding that gender responsive budgeting is an essential element in any serious political commitment towards gender equality and lays out approaches to align budgets with requirements for the achievement of women's rights.

MANUAL DESCRIPTION

CONTENT OF THE MANUAL

The manual consists of five training modules, each divided into two to four sessions. It is intended for use in a workshop setting.

The five training modules provide a comprehensive overview of entry points for gender responsive budgeting within national budget cycles. Thus, the manual should continuously be related to the planning and budgeting processes at the national level.

The manual seeks to offer clarity and understanding of the conceptual, technical and political elements of gender responsive budgeting:

- The first module, “Gender budgeting: concepts, principles and purposes,” covers the conceptual elements of gender responsive budgeting in relation to gender mainstreaming and women’s rights.
- The second module, “Budget formats and processes,” unpacks the technical and political aspects with reference to budgets and policy making cycles.
- The third module, “Tools for Gender budget analysis,” introduces a range of useful tools for analyzing budgets from a gender perspective, with a special focus on those that are most commonly used.
- The fourth and fifth modules present concrete applications of gender budget analysis tools and approaches used by gender budget initiatives to advocate for the incorporation of a gender responsive perspective based on the results of the budget analysis. Specifically, module five, “Gender budget initiatives from within government,” focuses on government-led gender budget initiatives.
- The final session of the training manual, entitled “Supporting GRB work,” is a hands-on exercise that allows participants to apply the skills and knowledge developed during the training through the drafting of gender responsive programs in relation to specific issues.

COMPLEMENTARY RESOURCES

The manual should be used in conjunction with:

- The “Budgeting for Reproductive Rights” resource pack, which was also developed under the strategic partnership between UNFPA and UNIFEM
- The CD-ROM of handouts and annexes
- Key reading materials on gender responsive budgeting available on the website www.gender-budgets.org (see list in Annexes)

MANUAL DESCRIPTION

WORKSHOP DURATION

The workshop is designed to be carried out over a period of three days. An example of a workshop program, which can be adapted to suit participants' profiles and availability, is provided in the annexes.

INTENDED AUDIENCE

The training manual is targeted at staff of UNFPA and UNIFEM and their partners from governmental and non-governmental organizations as a way to support the institutionalization of GRB work at country level. Other UN agencies may also find it useful. The recommended characteristics of workshop participants include:

- Interest and commitment in incorporating gender responsive budgeting concepts into policy advocacy and programming for gender equality
- Analytical skills in relation to gender inequality
- Experience in supporting national planning and programming processes in relation to women's rights and reproductive rights

WORKSHOP FACILITATION

Workshop facilitators should ideally have:

- Extensive experience using gender responsive budgeting concepts and tools
- Familiarity with a number of gender budget initiatives around the world
- Proficiency in gender and economics issues
- Advanced capacity for gender analysis
- Strategic planning and program formulation skills
- Experience in applying adult learning methodologies and workshop facilitation skills

It may be useful to bring in other resource persons for specific sessions.

TRAINING METHODOLOGY

Workshops should begin with a preliminary exercise aimed at demonstrating that gender budgeting is a process combining gender analysis with decision making around budgets, and that policy making processes largely define the outcomes of these policies. This exercise is then used to lay out the framework of the training manual in a brief presentation of the “workshop road-map.”

Each of the five modules includes at least one PowerPoint presentation followed by hands-on activities and/or case studies. Samples of PowerPoint presentations are provided in the annexes for facilitators’ use or adaptation as appropriate.

Copies of the relevant presentation and handouts (available on the CD-ROM) should be distributed to participants at the beginning of each session. At the end of each session, key points will be summarized and recorded on flip charts. Where activities are scheduled, the facilitator will explain the process and organize the working groups, ensuring that group composition always varies so that all participants get to interact at least once during the workshop.

Throughout the workshop, the facilitator or team of facilitators should ensure that the delivery process is participatory. Principles of adult education need to be applied including making use of participants’ experiences and insights whenever possible. The workshop’s success depends on the presence of participants with experiences in gender responsive budgeting—either government representatives, members of civil society or GRB experts. Where possible, two participants with specific experience in implementing gender budget initiatives will make presentations during the second session of module 4.

EVALUATION

At the end of the workshop, participants should be required to fill out an evaluation form, targeting both the process and content of the workshop (see annexes for a sample evaluation form).

INTRODUCTORY SESSION

EXERCISE: NEGOTIATING A HOUSEHOLD BUDGET

SESSION GUIDELINES

Time: 60 minutes

10 minutes to explain process, read household profiles and form groups

20 minutes for group work

15 minutes to report back

15 minutes for facilitator to offer clarifications

MATERIALS NEEDED

Flipcharts, markers, copies of two basic household budgets, copies of instructions for each family and family members

INSTRUCTIONS

Divide participants into two groups: one representing a poor rural household and the other one an urban middle class household, each faced with a specific set of issues. Assign a role to each member of the group. The task for each group is to develop a budget by identifying specific budget items and amounts that will be spent for each of them. The decisions are made based on negotiations amongst the members of each household.

At the end of the allocated time, invite participants to report back. After they present their budget, the facilitator should pose the following questions:

- How were the decisions made and by whom?
- Who benefited the most from the budget and whose needs were most disregarded?
- Which budget items were prioritized and which were left out?
- Were the decisions made gender responsive?
- Could one change the allocation of funds to better respond to everyone's needs?
- Are there parallels between this exercise and the government budgeting process?
- How does government spending affect household income and spending on services such as health, water, etc?

ADAPTATION

Facilitator can adapt the suggested family profiles as necessary.

- GRB uses various tools, approaches and strategies to monitor outcomes, outputs, activities and inputs of budgets with a gender perspective.
- CEDAW does not contain a specific provision on budgets, but the CEDAW Committee has often raised questions regarding governments' budgets.
- Gender mainstreaming is a strategy adopted in Beijing as the primary tool for promoting gender equality worldwide.
- What are the requirements for successful gender mainstreaming?
- Can GRB be a tool for gender mainstreaming?
- What does it take for gender equality advocates to influence the mainstream?

SESSION 1: WHAT IS A BUDGET?

EXERCISES

Two exercises are proposed for this session. The first exercise is “What does a budget tell us?” and the second exercise involves questioning the budget of the Ministry of Justice (Gauteng 1999/2000). The facilitator can use either the first exercise or the first and second exercises together depending on the time available. It is not advisable to use the second exercise without the first one, as it does not allow the participants to examine the variation in budget formats.

EXERCISE I: WHAT DOES A BUDGET TELL US?

INSTRUCTIONS TO FACILITATOR

What Does a Budget Tell Us?

Time: 60 minutes

MATERIALS NEEDED

Copies of extracts from the Gauteng and Pakistan budget documents
Flipchart paper
Markers

INSTRUCTIONS

Hand out copies of:

- (a) selected pages from Gauteng’s health budget
- (b) selected pages of Pakistan’s Medium-Term Budget Framework (MTBF) for the Ministry of Health

In plenary, using the PowerPoint presentation entitled “What is a budget?”, take participants through the pages of the two documents, making sure that they understand what each of the sections is about.

Divide participants into groups of 4–5 people. The task for the groups is to discuss what these documents tell them about gender and how the budget caters to the needs of women and men, girls and boys. Ask each group to write up their observations on flipchart paper.

In plenary, ask the groups to report backfocusing each on observations that have not already been made by previous groups.

ADAPTATION

Use budgets from countries that are relevant for the participants in your workshop.

SESSION 1: WHAT IS A BUDGET?

EXERCISE 2

There are two steps in this exercise. The first step is “Questioning the budget of the Ministry of Justice–Gauteng 1999/2000,” which is intended to familiarize participants with the key elements of a budget. The second step is “Doing budget calculations.” It entails working with participants on basic calculations (adding, subtracting and extracting percentage) to deduct information from the raw figures provided in the budget.

Time: 60 minutes (25 minutes for Step One and 35 minutes for Step Two)

INSTRUCTIONS TO FACILITATOR

Questioning the Budget of the Ministry of Justice – Gauteng 1999/2000 – Step I

MATERIALS NEEDED

Handout B (justice budget)

Handout C (Program 6)

Handout D (national budget)

INSTRUCTIONS

Distribute copies of Handouts B and C. Explain that the national and provincial governments present their budgets in a White Book that follows a standard format. Each department receives its allocation through a “vote.” The most important pages of the White Book are the ones that show:

- (a) The money voted for each department, and how it is allocated to different programs (see Handout B)
- (b) The breakdown of each program into sub-programs (see Handout C)

EXPLAIN THE DIFFERENT PARTS OF THE DOCUMENTS:

- Show that some tables are in thousands (R'000) and some in millions (add 000 000).
- Show that the printed budget gives figures for two budget years—the current year (1999/2000) and the most recent year (1998/99).
- Explain that although all budgets are for only twelve months, they are described using two years (separated with a slash) because national and provincial budgets run from April of one year to March of the next. (Local budgets run from July of one year to June of the next).
- Show that the total for Program 6 (R365 058 000) matches the line total for auxiliary and associated services in the justice budget
- Show that the total for 1999/2000 justice budget (R2 351 234 000) approximately matches the total for justice on the national table (Handout D)
- Explain that R2 351,2 million is the same as R2 351 200 000

INSTRUCTIONS

Divide participants into groups of two or three and give them copies of Handout D (national budget), Handout B (justice budget), Handout C (Program 6), Handout F (worksheet), and calculators.

Ask them to answer the questions on the worksheet.

[35 minutes]

ADAPTATION

The facilitator can choose to merge both steps of the exercise or use them separately depending on time availability and participants' familiarity with the subject.

SESSION 2: BUDGET PROCESS

OBJECTIVES	By the end of this session, the participants are expected to gain an understanding of budget actors and their different roles in order to identify entry points for GRB in budget processes and budget cycles.

SESSION 2: BUDGET PROCESS

INSTRUCTIONS TO FACILITATOR

Scrambled Budget Process

MATERIALS NEEDED

Four sets of a copy of the Albanian budget process handout, cut into strips corresponding to the steps of the process
A PowerPoint slide or overhead showing the steps of the Albanian budget process in the correct order

INSTRUCTIONS

- (a) Divide participants into four groups.
- (b) Give each group a set of strips corresponding to the different steps of the Albanian budget process.
- (c) Explain that the grey strips are headings reflecting the three main parts of the budget process; the strips with bold writing are sub-headings within the three main parts.
- (d) Ask each group to try to arrange the strips in the correct order to reflect the full budget process.

After the participants have finished working, ask each group to present its solution.

Then show the PowerPoint slide or overhead with the correct order to discuss any differences between this and what the groups put forward.

NOTE:

- The budget process might differ from one country to another and across levels of government (local, or national, state or federal).
- The strips reflect the budget process as described from inside government.

DISCUSS THE FOLLOWING POINTS:

- Is the budget process different in participants' own countries? How?
- How might a description of the budget process from outside government look?
- What steps are missing from the list?

DISCUSS THE FOLLOWING IN A SESSION OR SMALL GROUP (ADDITIONAL 30 MINUTES):

- Which actors (e.g. NGOs, ordinary citizens, elected representatives) are likely to be involved at each step of the budget process?
- Which actors could be involved at each step?

MODULE 3

TOOLS FOR GENDER BUDGET ANALYSIS

SESSION 1: GRB ANALYSIS TOOLS: DIANE ELSON'S TOOLS

OBJECTIVES	By the end of this session, participants are expected to be able to identify which tools can be used for specific budget analysis purposes and propose additional research methodologies and adaptations to provide the needed evidence and information for policy advocacy purposes. It also enables participants to draw on their gender analysis skills in elaborating a gender-aware policy appraisal.

- Gender-aware medium-term economic policy framework
- These tools focus on analysis rather than on the development of budgets.
- There is no need to use all these tools.
- These are not the only available tools.
- Rhonda Sharp's three-way categorization
- These tools were used to report post-hoc on budget, not to formulate budget.
- Insist on the strengths and weaknesses of the different tools and provide concrete examples or lessons learnt from using them.

CONCLUSION

INSTRUCTIONS

After the presentation of GRB analysis tools, ask participants (in groups of two or three) to discuss what additional aspects could/should be covered in a situation analysis, besides a description of the situation of men, women, girls and boys in relation to the sector/problem being addressed. The second slide of the PowerPoint presentation on gender-aware policy appraisal could serve as a starting point for the discussion.

Give participants ten minutes to discuss and then ask the groups to share their suggestions in plenary.

Record the suggestions on a flipchart.

SESSION 2: COSTING TOOLS: MDG COSTING METHODOLOGIES

MATERIALS NEEDED

Copies of handout on Oportunidades programs

Flipchart paper and markers

INSTRUCTIONS

In plenary, ask participants to each read aloud one paragraph of the description of the Mexico's Oportunidades program.

Divide the participants into three or four groups. Ask them to design a brief research project showing monetary and other costs imposed by this program on its beneficiaries. Results of the research should subsequently be used in advocacy work. Ask participants to be as concrete as possible, with regard to how they will use the instruments, find their respondents, and analyze their data, etc.

Ask each group to summarize its research design on a flipchart for presentation to plenary.

INTRODUCTION

Read or have participants read out loud the objectives of the session.
Indicate at which stage of the road map the session stands.
Describe the process of the session.

KEY MESSAGES

- Why might NGOs do costing?
- Few governments do full costing of planned policies.
- NGOs can engage in costing services/policies important for gender equality; comparing calculated costs with budget allocations; advocating for bigger and better budgets
- Women's unpaid/underpaid work subsidizes governments.

Three examples of costing are provided in Annex 1 (CD-ROM) but facilitator may consider context-relevant examples:

- Example of policy: Emergency obstetric care in Mexico
- Example of legislation: Protection orders for VAW in South Africa
- Example of unpaid or underpaid work: Home-based care for HIV/AIDS in Botswana, Zimbabwe and Mozambique

CONCLUSION

Invite questions and discussions.
Offer necessary clarifications.
Refer back to the objectives of the session and check in with participants to ensure the stated objectives were met.

KEY MESSAGES

- Both sex-disaggregated and gender-sensitive data are needed for GRB.
- Lack of desegregation of budget figures does not mean gender analysis is impossible.
- Types of indicators used in performance budgeting
- Sources of data: administrative data vs. censuses and surveys
- Lack of gender statistics must not prevent GRB work from happening.
- NGOs can undertake small-scale data investigations, analyze existing data or work with government statistics agencies to collect more accurate data on gender.

CONCLUSION

Invite questions and discussions.
Offer necessary clarifications.
Refer back to the objectives of the session and check in with participants to ensure the stated objectives were met.

Ask the first two groups to examine a Safe Motherhood program.

Ask the second two groups to study an HIV/AIDS program.

Ask participants to identify the following:

- four or five key activities to be included in the program

MATERIALS NEEDED

Copies of role briefs

INSTRUCTIONS

Give each participant a copy of the role play instructions.

Read out the paragraphs describing the background information.

Assign a participant who is confident and has a sense of humour to be the Minister of Finance.

Assign the other roles at random. Do not let participants choose which role they want to take on. If there are more participants than roles, participants can work in groups representing a particular interest group.

Give participants 10 minutes to decide what their own position is in relation to the time use survey. Then give them 15–20 minutes to “caucus” with other groups about how they can support each other’s positions.

Then hand over the proceedings to the Minister of Finance, who must “chair” the meeting, giving each person at least one chance to speak. Inform the Minister of Finance before the meeting happens how long you have allocated for the process.

At the end of the meeting, ask participants to discuss in plenary:

- How realistic was the role play?
- How could advocates for the time use survey have done better?
- What other lessons can we draw from the role play?
